Dear Sir /Madam

Purchase Order with Major US Biotech Corporation

TZ Limited (“TZL”, the “Company”) is pleased to announce that its US operating subsidiary, Telezgology, Inc. has secured a strategically important purchase order for a Smart Locker System for a major US biotechnology corporation and one of the largest employers on the West Coast with around 10,000 employees on campus.

“This purchase order covers the establishment of a fully integrated TZ Smart Locker System” stated Kenneth Ting, Executive Director of TZL. “This should set the standard for mail and parcel distribution across their massive multi-building campus in the Bay Area and for further Locker Bank purchases as the solution becomes part of standard employee utility.”

The value of the initial deployment is around AUD$225,000 comprising the enterprise software development, licenses and the Locker deployment.

The business represents the first commercial deal undertaken by TZ’s US subsidiary that provides a total turn-key and customised hardware and software solution to the large US corporate market. This approach leverages the successful business model that has been implemented in the Australian market for Westpac and other Financial Services customers, where our solutions are heavily driven by a customised enterprise software offering.
